 Part One *****

December 2014, was watching a movie in a hall "Happy New Year", interval came up while thinking about her. I heard Shahrukh's bold voice, who was looking into my eyes saying "KAHAANI ABHI BAAKI HAI MERE DOST" (STORY STILL IS LEFT MY FRIEND). I was struck by a divine message. It was universe hinting me, something about me and her was about to show up, it was movie interval, meant that its just an interval of our real life story and still everything is left, and it was so positive that it gave me thrilling sensation. Since that day I was thinking what is about to come? Universe exactly responded to my thought like it talked to me face to face, trying to fix my heart.

I was refraining myself to talk to her now. 3 years had passed, no contact. Read in some book to apply no contact rule in this broken relationship. After trying so hard I lost all hope of getting her back. It was too late, many years have passed. Now I did not want to contact her to escape myself from this hurt which I had been facing since last 5 years.

All started in 2002 when we went to visit Golden Temple in Amritsar (India), also went to her home. But, our actual relationship started in 2007. For one year, we were friends. August 2007, on Friendship Day, I got her mail asking me, do I remember her? I replied where she had been since long time. My phone number got changed since her big event in life started in 2004. That time also I refrained myself to call her again so to not disturb her with her life. However she always wanted to contact me and kept trying. 2008, 10th July, this friendship turned to Love when we expressed ourselves. Carried on till mid 2010, then broke up.

We are distant cousins since childhood now. I live in Delhi (India) and she lives in Amritsar. Childhood we met few times, when I had a visit to Amritsar or Kanpur where my other set of cousins live, or in Delhi twice or thrice when she visited on some important family occasion.

My college (school) started that time in 2002. Same year I visited Amritsar where we exchanged email addresses where our conversation started after we met after a long time. Prior to that I had gone there few years ago when her Grammy expired, we were little young that time. I remember we used to play together many games in childhood whenever we met. Then very next year I joined modeling where I developed my personality and later in the year again had the chance to visit Amritsar (Golden Temple). Also went to her home where our conversation grew stronger where we got fascinated by each other. Conversations on emails grew stronger, later we started messaging on mobile phones after 9 O Clock in night almost everyday, when her dad used to pass mobile phone to her, where we developed lot of conversation and shared many things. I used to study waking whole nights, other side mobile messaging happened. Later in 2004 we started talking too, but rarely. I remember I got a call from her when I was in classroom and felt very good.

Later in 2004 we lost touch due to changed phone numbers. For three continuous years I kept searching her everywhere. Sent her email, unfortunately email addresses were not active. In between wanted to wish her on birthday also, but no numbers available. Once sent message on her other number too, unfortunately got no reply. Was able to find her elder sister on orkut.com who is in USA, as Facebook was not popular that time, it was also a social networking website. Asked her sister about her, she got little angry on this, told little bit about her, but not completely, I did not pull conversation after that because of little rudeness in her attitude. Back of my mind I always missed her, used to think best times we spent together. Her text messages were still saved in my phone, later I lost that phone as my dad carried it and forgot. Was able to copy few messages and one of the messages which probably was the best one was " SPECIAL PEOPLE ARE LIKE BALLOONS, ONCE YOU LET THEM GO, CAN'T EVER GET THEM BACK, THAT IS WHY I HAVE YOU TIGHT TO MY HEART, YOU ARE TOO PRECIOUS TO LOOSE ". This message touched me deeply, and after this message, there was a long three year silence. I loved her deeply, she too loved me inside, we never expressed, but felt. My hobby was to share forwarded messages on e- mail, when I found her sister on social network, added her to my email list as well. Her sister kept receiving forwarded emails from my side as usual.

I missed her day and night, while sleeping or awake, she was clouded to my mind, kept thinking about her subconsciously. When I slept, always felt her by my side, nobody told me that time about manifestation and law of universe, manifestation was happening itself, sometimes in my imagination I expressed her by saying "Love You". Once or twice got her dream even may be. I knew now she is gone and nothing can bring back her to my life, felt sad and disappointed sometimes, kept missing good times with her. In imagination, always hugged her, felt emotions for her sometimes, it was unconditional love, had respect for her in my mind and never thought bad. One day even in 2006, I remember, her Grammy came to my dream and was patting my back, it was surprising for me, how come she is blessing me, I had very less memory of her in mind and never thought much about her even.

I continued to share forwarded and very beautiful emails with friends as the days passed, sometimes her sister sent me emails (the forwarded ones), I saw her email address in her email list where her sister had sent email. Never had guts to send email to her or to contact her. Was thinking what she would think?

7th August 2007, I opened my mailbox and saw email with her name, was surprised is she the same person whom I missed since long. Thank God she had guts to contact me. She asked me if I am same person. I replied, I am same person, and how is she doing with her life. We started emailing each other again, she was back to my life once more after three years of isolation. My love pulled her back. I asked how she came to know my details and how come she contact me. She remembered everything about me and those good times, told she saw my email address in her sister's forwarded email and contacted me. It was universe working my subconscious manifestation, which was actually working itself. Yeah, she was again back to me. We again shared numbers, started conversating again. For one year we were friends and expressed each other in 2008, she felt same for me. Shared many things, met also when she came to my town few times. Later in family wedding we met for a long time. Had plans to study together further courses and start business. Started few online things together. Our love was in a long distance, we were connected through internet, phone and web cam. Everyday we made lot of plans for our future.

Practices which I followed Subconsciously or Naturally or Unknowingly/ Universe made me Imagine**

- Felt emotions for her sometimes
- Missed her a lot which led me to think and visualise her memories
- Felt unconditional and true love for her
- Naturally felt I am hugging her, imagining besides me many times.
- Prayed to meet her again.
- Imagined hearing her voice in mind.
- Continued to try to contact her through various sources.
- Imagined wishing her on her birthday, wished my wishes reach her through brain waves.

After we met on a family wedding, things started to go down, it was a turning point in our life. Insecurities at both side started affecting our relationship. As the law of attraction says what you fear most, happens fast, same was happening between us. I never wanted she should leave me, and same was happening which I never wanted. I worked hard to save everything, but it seemed no effect on her. I started feeling dead all the time as I could not afford to loose her. It seemed more I am trying to hold her, more she was slipping from my hands. Whenever we tried to find solution, it worked for few days, again faced same things after few days. We were near downfall of our relationship. Now due to hurt I started maintaining distance from her. Once I went to her hometown to meet her, but she made me wait for four hours to meet, was disgusting. After coming back to my hometown, I started maintaining distance, did not talk to her almost for three months, which gave me little relief, or satisfied my ego which was hurting me. I was getting very insecure feeling and lot of fear, and wanted to get rid of this situation, but could not. You cannot take out your paining brain from your head and keep it aside to escape the pain. I felt like I am crushed by a truck and lying on the road with no help. Break up gives you so much of pain, I now realized. Many times we broke and revived. One day she conveyed her another big decision, which completely shattered me off and was never acceptable to me. Now it was me who maintained distance, I don't think she got any effect out of this. Up til this time I had read many books on relationships to improve and revive the relationship. Here I am reminded of a popular quote by Bob Proctor " Whatever you are doing is bringing you closer to what you want ". Every new starting year, I thought she will be back again, but its been long time, she never came back. I started cursing her while on the way going to office or night while returning from office. Day and night she was in my mind cursing her, resistance was high, I was unable to control my feelings. It felt like I am dead. Whenever she called, I was never in mood to talk to her, stopped replying her through any means. Was tough time for me. Inside I knew, its not right feeling I am giving to universe. Thanks to one of my friend, she supported me a lot, kept guiding me about law of attraction. Now I had complete knowledge of law of universe or attraction, how it actually worked. Now I was never in a mood to talk to her, whenever she called me, I started giving her excuses, like " I am watching a movie or busy in office", giving her many reasons to not to get bad feeling about downfall. Once I was missing her and messaged her on Facebook but got late reply as she is not interested or gave very rude reply. Once or twice I wished on her birthday, she acted that she is not my friend anymore which gave me the bad feeling to never talk to her again.

It was end of 2013 now, while coming back from office, while traveling I get her message, and that message conveyed something which was completely unacceptable to me. I was dead again. It was something I never wanted, but it happened. What I never wanted, came true. Felt like I am the victim and she has everything now. I was a loser in this relationship, she had everything, her side was heavier and strong. I contacted my best friend and met her next day and had dinner, she consoled me. Decided to move on completely. I was till now fed up of this tiring and dead relationship. Still I kept manifesting her inside, as I was in a habit now to manifest her back. 2014, I did not wish her on birthday, neither accepted her wishes on my birthday.

She tried to contact me various times, called many times, sent me email anonymously with different person name, I recognized and ignored, kept my conditions but could not come to the point. I moved on, I was too demotivated, scared and insecure and was not in a mood to talk to her. It gave me so much of stress and depression. Now she was dead for me and thought I will never talk to her or if she meets me, I will ignore her.

Situation now came up, I asked people on internet its solution, people told me to move on, she does not care for you so much. All offered me various solutions. I felt like I have been thrown off by her insulting me making me feel powerless. I remember I used to roam on roads thinking of her, places I visited used to remind me of her. Whenever I went to Sikh Temple Bangla Sahib (Delhi) in my city where we met and dated, used to stop there and look at the place where we met for the first time and sat and spent time. My best friend always consoled me and told me various ways to get her back using law of attraction. Following are the practices I was using till this time:

* Repeating affirmations regularly day and night, which were:

- 1) My Wife <Her Name>.
- 2) I am married to her.
- 3) I am her husband.
- 4) She is attracted to me.
- 5) She is already there with me.
- 6) Thank you for my marriage with <Her Name>
- 7) She is missing me
- 8) She is feeling emotions for me.

* Repeating these affirmations while sleeping. Programming my subconscious mind, it felt like she is with me.

* Visualizing she is hugging me, talking to me daily.

* Holding her hand in visualization (mind's eye).

* Using gratitude in affirmations.

* Visualizing and recalling our best times and the time I spent with her, way she looked at me, talked to me. So it becomes my reality in future.

* When I went to Sikh Temple, thanked God as she is already there with me.

* In home temple, imagining she is standing with me (Bringing future to present)

* Making myself believe she has come back.

* While making a walk outside my office, imagining she is walking with me.

* Imagining and visualizing Golden Temple in front of me and praying there, as there is a strong belief by people that wishes are granted there. You get whatever you pray.

 Making a manifestation, I am exactly following the way or universe is guiding me the way to how to attract her back. And I am following techniques by default to attract her.*

 Manifested exact alignment between me. Used few affirmations like, I am aligned to her. I am her perfect match, we are unconditional lovers. She loves me more than I love her. We are made for each other.*

 Manifesting my high vibration by staying happy, feeling love for myself.*

 Manifesting, she got fascinated by me when she meets me next.*

 Later I sometimes meditated on God to give myself relax out of worldly problems. And if you concentrate on higher power, you are on a higher vibration and everything gets aligned itself.*

 Continued to make my subconscious mind believe that she is with me. While sleeping I continued to repeat affirmations and I felt her in reality as she is with me. I practiced this feeling and I actually started to feel her with me.*

Last year 2015, I met one of my best friend just one day before Valentine's Day, when she advised me to move on from this relationship if she does not go according to your conditions as she was now sending me emails so I can come back to her life crying in front of me (the way she wrote email). She wrote many apologies and said she takes whole responsibility of the problems happened between us during past years. She had few conditions, but after facing all situations for few years, I was not ready to follow any of her conditions. Ultimately I decided to move on hurting her this time, now I did not waste my time on her, even my friend assisted me to find other girl for myself and move on. I got motivated and she made my way clear, was feeling light and relieved at least I was on one side and not lingering on. My girlfriend kept sending me emails requesting me to come back to her life. Sent few love quotes many times. I stopped replying her to save myself from hurting. Now I was looking for other girl for myself, still sometimes I used to count years I spent for her waiting. Its been now more than five years. Inside I was still manifesting her, because I developed habit of manifesting her, so all was going itself. Was making manifestations lightly now thinking she would meet me this year, following same practices in front of God in Sikh Temple. Met my best friend few times even who used to console me. She always said to move on and leave everything on universe (Let Go part), I stopped feeling burden. May be it was September 2015 when we got invitation from Ludhiana where my relatives live, my uncle aunty invited out family for their 25th Marriage Anniversary. Ludhiana is near to Amritsar where my girlfriend lived. Just three hours drive by car.

*Part Two****

Up-til this time I lost all hope to attract her. Was taking my life easy now, but I knew if I go to Amritsar, will not be able to stop myself. I made my mind to go Ludhiana to Uncle Aunty's 25th Marriage Anniversary. My parents told that after Ludhiana they would visit Golden Temple in Amritsar. I refused them to go to Amritsar, told they can go and I will not go there. I asked for some time to think. Met my best friend and discussed, she said don't meet her now if you go there, I told her if I go there, its difficult for me to stop myself. still to save myself from hurt I decided I will go to Amritsar and will not meet her. My phone number got changed due to some reason since last one year now and she did not have my number, the only medium she messaged me through Facebook or email, in 2014 I already deactivated my Facebook account for whole year so she cannot contact me. Now she was not left with any option to contact me. I told my best friend that I will go to Amritsar and if she by chance goes to Golden Temple or in the party in Ludhiana if she is invited, I will ignore her. Last year in 2014, in Kanpur, I ignored her elder sister even to save myself from hurt.

Day came up when we headed to Ludhiana, had little insecurity, if she would be there what would be my reaction and how would I avoid her or how will I behave, still, I was happy that I will be attending such a grand party, danced, enjoyed there a lot, was on a higher vibration. Thank God she was not invited there. Next day after the party, we had to travel towards Amritsar. Sometimes I get intuition for few things. In the past when my girlfriend used to give me a call, I had the visions in front of my eyes and saw her mobile number clearly in white color with black background, which stopped since quite a long time now, since my phone number changed. The day when we had to head for Amritsar I saw same vision while taking a bath, when I closed my eyes to wash my face, I saw her mobile number again, which surprised me again. Was wondering how it happened, universe gave me signal. Had little fear in mind and insecurity and excitement that I am again going to her city. Was feeling nervous again, what would happen if I see her. I decided I will not call her now as it gave me high amount of fear and insecurity, due to that I had to take treatment from doctor even. Internet WiFi connectivity was not there in my uncle's home, unfortunately my net pack got expired same day I reached Ludhiana, and now only medium she could contact me was email. Luckily one of my family member called Delhi and asked somebody known to get my net pack recharged while traveling to Amritsar. My internet was working again. Traveling through the beautiful and green fields of Punjab we reached Amritsar by taxi, once we had a stoppage in between for tea and snacks. Slight cold air was blowing there, Punjab is a Sikh state and has lot of farmlands, large percentage of population of Punjab are farmers.

So, I was in her city, feeling nervous, excited, happy, feeling of lack (because she was not in my life), actually I had mixed emotions and feeling, was nervous more, expecting her to see her on streets, did not know she will meet me or not. It was her city, I knew she is around me. May be previous manifestations dragged me to Amritsar and everything was happening itself. As the law of attraction says, expectation is a great tool to attract something, I could not control myself, was looking for her everywhere with lot of nervousness and fear. Was looking at every girl passing from in front of me and everywhere around I could see and reach. Past was getting recalled in mind, but I was positive this time. Inside I was praying, God please make me meet her once, please please please. I don't want to miss a chance to meet her, same time I was dead sure, I won't give her a call, unsure of her reaction, will she take me seriously or not. Did not want to loose my self respect again as I lost in past, begging her, pleading her, spoiling my health. Again it would give a feeling of loosing my dignity and being on lower side, means agreeing to her conditions, which I never wanted.

As we reached Amritsar, my sister updated status on Facebook and tagged everyone about our arrival and entry to Golden Temple. Later, I removed myself from tag as I was confused whether to meet her or not. Later I kept on liking that status, so she can see it and come to know about my arrival. Somewhere in my heart I had something for her. Had mixed feelings of meeting her or not. After keeping our luggage in a booked room, we went for outing outside guest house, which was inside the Golden Temple area and owned by its authorities. It was late evening by now, we were roaming on the streets around Golden Temple, my excitement was increasing minute by minute, was looking at every girl. I did not miss single second to look at face of each girl who passed from in front me, even I looked inside cars passing by and small scooties, because I know she drove scooty. It was more than two years now, did not hear her voice over the phone. Was recalling her conversations in mind. I was in my own thoughts thinking dreaming about her quietly. My sister asked me why am I so quite? I remember we had Gol Gappas (Indian Dish) in front of McDonalds, lot of local dwellers have stalls selling on the street. My family stopped in front of toy shop to find a good toy for my little nephew. While my family was bargaining for price of a toy, I was watching girls in hope I might see her anywhere, praying, manifesting, repeating affirmations. Was getting irritated a little as my family was taking lot of time to choose a toy as I had an idea she goes to Golden Temple everyday at same time or early. Wanted to go inside it as soon as possible so she would not leave Temple. It was already late and was feeling disappointed, I now was getting super frustrated to meet her which I could not show to family. It was late evening and we reached at front side of Temple, but one of the elder family member changed decision to enter from front gate. I had idea that my girlfriend enters or exits from front gate mostly. We decided to go from backside as our guest house was near to that gate. I lost hope to meet her that day, but was still confused I should meet her or not. I left everything on higher power that you call Universe or God (Let Go). I was sure I won't call her whatever happens. Previously when we were in market while purchasing toy for nephew, I sat on a scooter nearby looking for girls, so I should not miss her, if she is passing by. In every girl, I was trying to see her, I tried to imagine her besides me. Almost looked face of every girl. We were near front gate of Golden Temple and I continuously looked the street if she is passing by chance.

It was late now, we went inside removing shoes and slippers and clicked few snaps, I was continuously looking everywhere for her, missing good times, had a feeling like butterflies in stomach. Took a round around Parikrama (Small religious water body structure inside Temple full of Water), went to the main building where Sikh religious book is kept, where Sikhs bow their head in front of it. Prayed their for my recovery of everything with her, wishes in Golden Temple are granted. Previously my wishes were granted whenever I prayed. Luckily I met one of my another female cousin who resides in Delhi where I live, she came to Amritsar one day prior to us. We went to Akal Takhat (Another Temple in same Complex), which again reminded me of her, we met four years ago at the same place, where I waited for four hours and she was with her family member, her dad met me as well. Later her another family member came and she did not give me single chance to talk to her, I was crushed and disappointed, another day we again met just for ten minutes, that time also I made manifestation I will meet her both days and universe made it possible and I happily left for Delhi. Was manifesting since that time.

Morning we had to head for Temples nearby Amritsar and had to board Taxi, also had plans to go Wahga Border (India Pakistan Border) to watch border closing ceremony, later we canceled program to go Wahga Border due to time shortage. We came back to guest house, all wanted to rest, but I wanted to go back to Golden Temple, so I can search her though it was very late and it was not possible that she would be there. Still I practiced positivity and high vibration so I can attract her. Was praying Universe to bring her at the same time when I go to Golden Temple again. In a relaxed mood went to Golden Temple to simply meditate on God, sat at same place where we met in past, in front of Akaal Takhat, was in her memories, still looking and expecting her, anyhow I could meet her.

Universe gave me other sign, I saw her parents passing from in front of me where I was sitting on the ground. They did not recognize me. After all it was four years I saw them, her father had greyed now. I saw him in white beard. I got another hope, may be universe drags her to me. I kept practicing my positivity, kept practicing affirmations, visualizing, prayer, whatever I could do. Repeated affirmations in present tense. I had one and half day left in Amritsar. I had the hope, universe will bring her to me. I again took round of Temple after I saw her parents so I could find her or her brother as I became excited.

Next morning we left for nearby Temples around Amritsar. Before leaving I came out of my room and went straight towards window of Guest House, watching people outside, there was a park near Golden Temple where few ladies were practicing Yoga, I was looking everywhere so I can see her if she might have come there for morning walk. But I found no one. Early in the morning we went for short walk outside, where we enquired about Taxis and their charges to visit temples. While all were having tea, I went ahead enquiring for Taxis alone, where I could see few girls driving scooties, thought if she is passing by I could meet her once. I saw a school there named Sri Guru Harkrishan Public School, she used to tell me she completed her schooling from this school, I was not sure if this is the same one, clicked the photograph of school for my memory. Also there was a park nearby which touched Golden Temple's boundary may be, tried to look her there even, might be she has come for a walk. Later, we left for temples and round about we visited ten Sikh Temples, we also reached Baba Buddha Ji (Name of Temple) which reminded me of her. Last time when she met me, she asked about same. When I had raw Onion with Indian Bread (Roti) there, as its known for a good fortune there, and I had an urge to have mouth freshner before meeting her. But could not get it.

Prayed almost every temple I visited to meet her. I was continuously thinking about her, everyone felt my silence and wondered why I am so quite. We came back to Amritsar again in late evening after having visit to Temples. It was Eight 'O' clock almost in the night. I had mixed feelings she will be meeting me, whether she will come to Golden Temple at this time or not, because generally she used to go there during the day or evening. It was late, I was loosing hope, carried on with my manifestations making my belief strong. Sometimes I felt like I should call her, but no, I was still determined that I won't call her now whatever happens and if she would not meet me I will go back to Delhi leaving everything on Universe. Another reason, I lost all power and guts to talk to her again.

After reaching, I thought now all my family members would go inside Golden Temple, but story again was different, they made program to have dinner at nearby restaurant, I could feel butterflies in stomach. Amritsari Kulcha is popular dish of Amritsar and I love it (full of butter with potato stuff inside with chollaas), but could not enjoy eating. I wanted to run towards Golden Temple but could not. After dinner even, they did not go to Golden Temple, instead landed to guest house for rest, what could I do? I followed them with off mood. It was late, might be Nine 'O' Clock or Nine Thirty in night and this time was making me disappointed as it was again late. This time I decided to bluff all, told everyone I am outside the room and going to balcony and left for Golden Temple and texted my sister I am going to Golden Temple and switched my phone off.

After removing shoes. I was again inside Golden Temple continued with her search looking every girl and passing person. I stood and sat in front of Akal Takhat where we met last time. Waited for long time, this was the final time I could meet her, next day in afternoon I had to board a train in afternoon for Delhi. So, if not now means never. I did not see her, again I went for the round of Golden Temple (Parikrama around water lake), then went inside the main building. I recalled once last time she told me about roof of Golden Temple, where generally no one goes and its easy to meet in privacy. So I used stairs, checked first floor where the Holy Book of Sikhs (Guru Granth Sahib handwritten by Sikh King Maharaja Ranjit Singh is kept) searched whole floor if by chance I see her. She was not there even. I went to second floor which was the top most floor where I sat for few minutes where I could see lot of people and many tourists from Europe or America talking in their native language. I could feel my heart beating very fast, was repeating "Please make me meet her once, please, please". After spending long time in main building, I was going back with no hope of meeting her now, as it was very late now and thought she will not come now. Started walking in Parikrama again, felt bit disappointed and relaxed, came in mind now she will not come, relaxed because I could do nothing, so I think I subconsciously released my resistance to universe, thought never mind if she did not come to meet me, gave up all expectation, still carrying hope and looking all faces, I felt tired of continuously walking and searching her.

After loosing hope I called my family to accompany me in Golden Temple and all came after few minutes. And as usual I was with them, we went inside Golden Temple's main building again. I was giving my energy to her thoughts still, expecting universe would drag her anyhow to me, thinking about final result, now it was universe's duty to bring her anyhow. During late night, lot of people inside Golden Temple to see last ceremony of the day of taking back the Holy book Guru Granth Sahib (kept on Sedan Chair of Gold) to another different building and people find it very auspicious to be there, I was outside main gate, looking around everywhere, heard sound of Royal Bugle. It was similar to King passing from in front of us. Sikhs treat their Holy Book Guru Granth Sahib as not less than any King, like it is King of Universe.

Part Three**

Crowd was increasing as it was Friday night, lot of people from nearby villages come to visit Golden Temple, mostly they are farmers. As its the biggest Sikh Holy Place, it attracts lot of public from all over the world. After loosing hopes, kept looking for her in the crowd. I was standing with one of my family member, I saw something surprising in a crowd, it was my girlfriend's dad, whom I saw one day before. I was not very surprised but kept looking at him, where is he going? He then disappeared in crowd. Few minutes passed, we now were in a mood to go inside Akal Takhat building and went to its stairs. I was feeling relaxed and normal knowing I have to go Delhi tomorrow. Followed my family members and started climbing Akal Takhat stairs and I casually looked left side and again I saw her dad, then her mom besides him, then his brother, I made logic she must be there if her family is there, looked everyone around them and I found her , she was standing in front of my eyes finally !!! Oh My God !!! Universe dragged her finally to where exactly I was waiting for her. I could not believe it, I was not dreaming and that's for sure. I think my mom realized they are there prior to me but did not want to meet them, might be she was shy or some other problem (Our family relations were not very good since beginning). That is why she did not tell anyone that they are standing there. I felt uncomfortable in front of my mom to approach her, so I slowed my speed so my mom could surpass me. Now, my family went inside building and I reversed my steps towards her and patted her on back once, looked straight at her face and raised my eyebrows, she was stunned to see me suddenly in front of her.

She was continuously looking at me like she is in a dream and cannot believe how I suddenly came in front of her. I remember her cute small fair and glowy face with brightened eyes. It seemed like her eyes are bigger than her face the way she was continuously looking at me stunned without blinking her eyes. Her complexion was looking very fair, as the white light of Akal Takhat came up straight on her face and people around her. She was surrounded by her family members, so did not get chance to converse with her. All members in her family met me nicely, including her brother. My dad came up and met them all and within ten minutes we left and she continued to look at me with her bright eyes. Seemed she wants to talk to me and want me to stay there. I did not exchange my number with her again and neither she asked, may be she was shy in front of all. We went inside Langar Hall (Community Kitchen) to have blessed food. I was still angry with her. Thought let's see what happens next. Did not think much about future, just kept thinking about the conversation couple hours ago.

My family was not much interested in meeting them due to mediocre relations with them. They already decided not to meet previously. When her family met, they had a doubt I might have given them a phone call to meet in Golden Temple, I made clear my family that it was a coincidence and not to think wrong. I never wanted to tell them that I manifested and attracted her and this meeting through mind power.

My phone rings, I got email. It was her email with different name. I replied, she asked my number and told when am I going back to Delhi. Told her everything and whole night we had a chat. Next morning I get her phone call. She requested to meet me again somewhere. So we earlier decided to meet at Jalian Wala Bagh, later changed the place to Golden Temple and talked about our past and to how to change our future which is favorable for both. She cried in front of me so I can accept her back, I was not ready to give her chance after what she did with me. I could not forget, she assured me that she will prove and we will have a best relationship. We met on 17th October 2016 for one hour and clicked few photographs, then I boarded train and left for Delhi. Exchanged emails and texts on the way. After completing my journey, I clicked a photo with my camera and later realized, previous snap I clicked where we are together few hours ago, when I was in Amritsar. I smiled, my manifestation has come true as she is back to my life.

Not to pull more. My aim in this story to tell you is how I attracted meeting with her. Few things exactly happened as I manifested. You have to be on a particular vibration to attract anything, including relationships, money anything you want.

Following are few practices which I want to share, I followed when I reached Amritsar:

- 1) Continuous Praying in present tense "God has made me meet her".
- 2) Praying normally even, "Please make me her meet"
- 3) Looking at every girl passed in front of me.
- 4) Looking inside every car passing.
- 5) Expected her to see everywhere.
- 6) Searched all places inside Golden Temple.
- 7) Imagined herself walking with me.
- 8) While sitting inside temple, kept looking around everywhere, expected and thought within two minutes she is coming to me.
- 9) Went to places where she said she generally visits inside Golden Temple.
- 10) While my family was shopping, I sat on a scooter parked on the road and thoroughly felt excited about already meeting her and looked all girls driving scooter and walking on streets.
- 11) Making manifestation and believing that we reached Golden Temple at the same time.
- 12) Thinking, universe has dragged her to me anyhow from anywhere to meet me.

- 13) Imagining a crain in my mind picking her up and keeping her besides me.
- 14) After I lost hope of meeting her, I released resistance, I made myself relaxed and ready to go to Delhi.
- 15) Kept saying Thank you in mind.
- 16) Thought about her positive qualities and heard her talking to me.
- 17) Felt emotions while praying.
- 18) Imagined her holding my hand.
- 19) I knew Law of Attraction takes time, it took one day's time for me to attract her.
- 20) Belief in mind that wishes get fulfilled in Golden Temple.
- 21) Thought about end result, removing how part from in between. Included, she has come to me

“Whatever you think about, you will attract into your life. Not what you want,
but what you are emotionally involved with.”

anyhow, its the work of universe to bring her to me.

22) Sat besides Sarovar (Water)in Golden Temple and threw coin and prayed "Make me meet her". Its an old belief that you throw coin in water and pray for something, it fulfills.

23) Threw off my Ego to approach her. Ego is a big resistance to get anything. Important to throw off our ego.

24) Kept liking my sister's status of reaching Golden Temple, so she can also read that.

Later when our phone conversation started happening, she said she thought everything is over between us and if I will meet her in future, I (me) will ignore her, it was miracle for her also to meet me surprisingly. She continued to say me "Thanks for meeting there and approaching me". Also she told she could'nt sleep whole night after we met and kept thinking about me, also she and other family members kept searching for me after I left. She already thought if she sees even one positive move from my side, she will never let me go anywhere. Often she tells me now, she prayed multiple times in Golden Temple and said whenever you are in Gurudwara (Sikh Temple), whatever is going in your mind, fulfills. Also said she read our status of reaching Golden Temple and she wanted to talk to me. Said we generally never go to Golden Temple so late, don't know why situation happened and that day many relatives met their family inside Temple. Also she had to purchase something from market and instead of going after visiting Golden Temple, she shopped before. See, Universe was making alignment between us, so we meet each other at the same time, and we met again.

Thank You universe or making my manifestation true. Thought came to mind "KAHAANI ABHI BAAKI HAI MERE DOST" (STORY STILL IS LEFT MY FRIEND).
